Tweed's Sentence.

NEW YORK, Nov 22.—Tweed is sentenced to twelve years in the county jail and to pay a fine of $12,[illegible].

Judge Davis' Remarks on the Sentence of Tweed.

NEW YORK, Nov 22.—When Tweed was called to stand up and receive the sentence of the court, Judge Davis said: Wm. M. Tweed, you stand convicted by the verdict of a jury of twelve honest men of a large number of crimes charged against you in one indictment, and that verdict, in the opinion of the court, could not have been otherwise without a violation of the oath which the jury have taken, or an utter disregard of the obligations under which they rested to speak the truth and the whole truth. With all the opportunity you had to faithfully perform your duties to the public, to win honor and the respect of the whole community, you saw fit to pervert the opportunity you possessed and the powers with which you were clothed in a manner more wicked, more infamous and more outrageous than in any instance of a like character which the whole history of the world contains. Instead of protecting the public, you plundered it. Instead of standing guard where the law placed you over the treasury of your country, you threw that treasury open, not merely to your own rapacity but also to some of your associates, under circumstances that make it transparent that you were engaged in a concerted conspiracy to plunder the Treasury of this county, in which yourself and your associates in crime were principally to benefit. The evidence on the subject can leave no manner of doubt in the minds of any. The commencement of it was the entering by you on the duties of President of the Board of Audit on the 5th of May. The very next day after that your career of plunder began, and it continued from that day forward consecutively till the whole one hundred and ninety accounts before that Board had been audited and certified, warrants issued and money paid. The evidence is conclusive that the whole proceeding was instituted for carrying on a concerted plan to enrich yourself and those associated with you. If there were no other testimony in my judgment it would be conclusively established that on each of those several claims as they were passed and ultimately paid your share of plunder was clearly fixed and prescribed at 24 per cent, while the share of your associates had been fixed by a somewhat similar standard. It is impossible to believe that in the distribution of the 190 cases in which moneys were received on these warrants just 24 per cent of each sum should be always allotted to you without an understanding in advance by a concerted arrangement that this exact sum should be your fixed proportion of moneys of which the county should be plundered. It is in vain to suggest that your trial and conviction have been the result of any partisan feeling, that this after all, as one of the jurors summoned expressed it, is but "a struggle between the ins and outs." The whole struggle has been a struggle between honesty and fraud, between virtue and crime. It would be wrong and unjust to entertain for a moment the idea that your conviction has been the result of persecution at the hands of any person or party. It has been the result of evidence so plain, so clear that I have never seen a case where the evidence was so utterly overwhelming and where it was so impossible for the jury to fail to come to a just verdict. Through the whole of this trial you remained up to the very moment of your conviction calm and serene, as though you relied on your innocence, when it was overwhelmingly apparent to all that your serenity was only that of audacity, that your confidence was based on the omnipotence of corruption rather than on a reliance on your innocence. [The Judge emphasized this sentence by bringing his clenched hand down on his desk.] "The duty of the Court is now to pronounce sentence on you—sentence that may be adequate to your crime." The several counts on which Tweed was found guilty were then grouped together and 51 distinct sentences imposed, making 12 years imprisonment in the county jail and a fine of $12,500. Tweed was afterwards consigned to the Tombs by the sheriff.

THE TONE OF THE WESTERN PRESS.—A Cincinnati dispatch of November 17th says: The tone of the Western press on Cuban affairs is generally favorable to prompt and energetic action on the part of the United States to punish the insult to our flag and avenge the slaughter of our citizens, but the majority are opposed to the annexation of that island under any circumstances. The press of Cincinnati, with the exception of the Enquirer, are [illegible] exceptions to the above statement, the Commercial ridiculing the idea of a war with Spain, or any interference with Cuban matters by the United States, and the Gazette taking the ground that the Virginius party were filibusters who have no claim either to the protection or sympathy of the United States Government, and whose fate was no worse than they had reason to expect.

Augustus Iturbide, Maximilian's adopted heir to the Mexican Empire, accompanied by Madame Iturbide and General I. N. Nelson, American Minister to Mexico, are in New York city. Young Iturbide will be sent to school at Stoneyhurst, England. He is ten years of age, and an accomplished musician and linguist.

THE VIRGINIUS COMPLICATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov 21.—Reports of further outrages towards Minister Sickles at Madrid need official confirmation.

There is no reason to believe, after searching investigation, that there were any irregularities in the registration papers of the Virginius.

Important Cabinet Meeting.

The Cabinet meeting to-day was the longest and the most important ever held under Grant's administration. Nothing is or can be yet known as to the conclusions reached. The President is evidently in full accord with the general sentiment of the country, but will do nothing which even by implication will place the Government in a wrong position. He will submit the whole matter to Congress when it meets.

WASHINGTON, Nov 22.—At the Cabinet meeting yesterday, which lasted four and one half hours, official dispatches submitted confirmed the belief that there is no more reason to abandon the idea of attaining a just conclusion now than there was yesterday. The sensational tales now current may have a temporary effect, but the [illegible] when we announced the receipt of official information that the Spanish Cabinet [illegible] of a satisfactory and honorable settlement of the Virginius difficulty, but a regard for the maintenance of the integrity of Spanish territory is essential. When it is understood that no new developments have occurred since this announcement was made except those regarding the obedience by Burriel of the commands of the Castelar Government, it must be accepted as a favorable indication of the honest purpose of that government to deal justly. It will therefore appear that the situation promises favorable, if not peaceful results. Our Government will nevertheless continue its preparations in anticipation of unfavorable results. It is now almost certain that delays will occur to such an extent that the case will necessarily be presented to Congress in an incomplete condition. No dispatches have been received confirming the report of a second attempt to kill General Sickles. Work in the Charlestown Navy Yard progresses briskly.

The impression prevails at Washington that Congress will recognize the Cubans as belligerents at once.

WASHINGTON, Nov 21.—The superintendent of the mounted recruiting service has been ordered to send all disposable colored cavalry recruits to Fort Brown, Texas, to the Ninth Cavalry.

The Feeling in the East and at the South.

Alexander H. Stephens on the Virginius Difficulty.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov 21.—Alexander H. Stephens leaves to-morrow morning for Washington. Though still feeble, he hopes to be able to remain at his post during the session of Congress. In an interview to-day he said: "I am for Cuba immediately, if not sooner." He thinks that the movement to take possession of Cuba will bring about good feeling between the North and South.

Minister Sickles and the Spanish Mob.

A Washington special says that an official dispatch to Secretary Fish received at 12 o'clock last night says that a second attempt was made to assassinate M[illegible] Sickles, and that 1,000 [illegible] are now on guard at the American legation in Madrid.

MADRID, Nov 21.—Sickles has suspended preparations which he was making to leave the city.

LONDON, Nov 22.—Dispatches from Madrid agree in representing that the late interviews between Minister Sickles and the Spanish authorities were of a stormy character. Sickles barely escaped mobbing by a crowd which congregated in front of his residence. In consequence of the demonstrations he determined to leave Madrid, but the Government having dispersed the mob, and since maintained peace, he is resolved to remain.

It is rumored that the insurgents intend to surrender. This will leave the entire fleet of iron clads at the service of the Government in case of a war with the United States.

SENATOR SUMNER ON THE "VIRGINIUS" MATTER.

BOSTON, Nov 19.—Senator Sumner, in an interview to-day with regard to the Virginius affair, said he had sent to New York a letter to be read at the meeting there last night. This letter embodied his views on the subject. It is a very delicate question as Sumner hinted, and an opinion should be carefully and calmly formed. The haste and heat of popular clamor he did not think calculated to give sound views. He remarked: "I shall be attacked for what I have written unless they suppress the letter. They have contrived to get up a vast deal of excitement upon the subject. There is popular indignation which overlooks the result. Give the people a little time to cool off and they will listen to calmer views." Mr Sumner also remarked on the attitude of certain London journals on this matter. Some of them which were never friendly to us, are doing all they can to arouse popular indignation all over this country. We need to be very careful, he thought, how we adjust our policy to an opinion received from that quarter. They would be too glad to see us involved in a war with Spain. They do not like a Republic in Spain, and would be delighted to have it crushed by a Republic in America. England would rub her hands with glee if she could make out of the Virginius a second Alabama. She would be glad if we placed ourselves in the same position as herself by recognizing the Virginius. As to the legal aspect of the case, Sumner said there appeared to his own mind very clearly the fact that the vessel went under the United States flag but does not compromise our honor. If she were furnished with the American flag and papers, they were only a part of the pretense. It would be foolish, however, he remarked, to make the Virginius an excuse for the recognition of Cuba. It would be cruel too, to precipitate war with Spain unless we were driven to it. We must give the Spanish Republic if possible. The letter referred to by Senator Sumner was not read at the New York meeting last night.

THE DUTY OF THE LOCAL PRESS.—If ever there was a time when patriotism and self-interest alike required that every citizen should emancipate himself from party prejudices and to think for the commonwealth it is the present. As in the field of philanthropy, where men and women in the spirit of self-sacrifice rush in to save and console, though death in the form of yellow fever and cholera is imminent, they meet with no competition nor jostling there, so in the field of statesmanship based upon scientific principles pursued for their own sake, there is always room higher up. Members of Congress look with solicitude to the voice of their home paper. If they realize that they receive due recognition at home for all correct votes and censure for all those of a doubtful character, they will be fortified to resist the insidious lobby influences, which are growing stronger from year to year.

Not merely money and the pleasures of the table are used to debase their character, but very frequently the higher allurements of society—music and art—are brought into requisition to obscure their moral [illegible], and to lead them insensibly astray.

Believing that the great majority of the next Congress is composed of men of integrity, we have high hopes that with the aid of the press and an intelligent public sentiment the coming session will inaugurate a measure of great public advantage.—The Republic.

EFFECTIVE CONGRESSIONAL LEGISLATION.—A Washington dispatch of November 17th says: It is believed that Congress on meeting will promptly repeal the provision of the Bankrupt Act which enables a creditor to [illegible] a merchant into bankruptcy [illegible] default in any obligation with regard to his [illegible]. This [illegible] very inconvenient [illegible] when the recent panic was largely aggravated by the fact that such a creditor could ruin men with abundant but unavailable property [illegible] engagement instantly when temporarily unable to raise small amounts of currency in a time of general financial distress.

Efforts are designed to [illegible] in accordance with Treasurer Spinner's recommendation for authorizing increased issues of greenbacks, with a provision for their conversion into 3.65 per cent bonds, and the latter again convertible into greenbacks so as to shrink and swell the currency alternately as required by the necessary exchanges.

SALINAS CITY, Nov 22.—To-day before Judge McCandless, Robert I. Masterson underwent a preliminary examination upon a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill H. J. Harmon. The evidence in the case divulged the fact that Harmon went to Masterson's house while Masterson was absent, and attempted to rape or seduce the wife of Masterson. The courage and resistance of the woman foiled him in the attempt, and he extorted a promise from her that she would not give publicity to the attempt, neither informing his (Harmon's) wife nor her husband. Under the circumstances the woman made the promise, but as soon as an opportunity occurred and Harmon was out of sight, she ran to the place where her husband was at work a hundred yards distant and informed him of the outrage which had been attempted. The infuriated husband proceeded to his house and arming himself with a double barreled shot gun, which was loaded with bird shot only, started for Harmon, whom he found, and in whose body he planted two charges of shot. The Justice, before whom the examination was held, had but one recourse under the circumstances, to hold Masterson to appear, and placed his bonds at $2,000.

We learn that Col. T. R. Cornelius, of Washington county, has brought suit for $1,025 damages against a Mr. Crandall for an arrest made for refusing to assist in the service of a "process" of some kind.

On Monday of last week, a Grange of Patrons of Husbandry was organized a few miles south of Corvallis, called Willamette Grange No. 4. A fifth Grange, for Benton Co., is about to be organized at Monroe.

Mr. C. W. Mason, of Philomath, had a narrow escape from death last week, by a well caving in upon him. He was down twenty feet when the cave occurred, and received very severe but not dangerous injuries, it is hoped.

The R. R. agent at Newtown, this side of Hillsboro, was chased by a cougar near his house a few days ago. Since that time the agent has only ventured out once, and then he saw a deer which so frightened him that he almost fainted.

The Order of the Patrons of Husbandry in Lane county will celebrate the anniversary of the foundation of their Order at Junction City on the 4th of December next. Mr. J. Henry Smith, of Harrisburg, Linn county, will deliver an address.

The 15th anniversary of the marriage of Dr. Rowland, of the Christian Church at Salem, was appropriately observed by his friends last week, who presented him and his lady with an unlimited amount of glassware of all kinds, and for every conceivable use.

The schooner John Hunter, Capt. Hillyer, arrived at Newport on the 9th inst., with merchandise for Elk City. She loaded with lumber at Oneatta Mills, and after taking on several hundred bushels of oats, from Siletz, sailed for San Francisco during the last week.

Mr. A. S. Watt, formerly of Yamhill county, but now residing in Forest Grove, disposed of his farm lying some three and a half miles northwest of Lafayette, to Mrs. L. E. Hannah and Mr. A. Blackburn, of Gervais, for $11,000. The farm contains 130 acres of land.

The suit of Corvallis and Yaquina Bay Wagon Road Company vs. Philip Stanton, to recover toll, which came up on appeal, was decided in the Circuit Court at Corvallis last week against Mr. Stanton, thus establishing the legal right of the Company to take toll.

D. D. Prettyman, who attended to weighing out the feed for the stock at the State Fair, informs the Farmer that he delivered in all 12,031 pounds of hay, 6,977 on Thursday. The heaviest horse he weighed belonged to Howard and Hunsaker, of Marion county, and weighed 1,800 pounds.

Our Hillsboro correspondent informs us that the earthquake on Saturday night extended to that section. Hanging lamps oscillated for some seconds. Some persons imagined that they had been suddenly taken ill, and other infallible signs of a genuine earthquake were observed.

Information is wanted of David Harvey, of County Down, Ireland. When last heard from he was in Albany, Oregon. If living, or any one knowing of him, they will confer a favor by writing to his brother, Samuel Harvey, care J. P. Morris & Co., Richmond Iron Works, Philadelphia, Pa.

About all the fall grain in Marion county is now sown, and it is coming up evenly and well. There is a large acreage sown. The fall plowing is progressing finely. One thing is observable, the plows are set very deeply and much "raw dirt" is turned up, which assimilating with surface soil will produce heavy crops next year.

The Republican primaries met in Salem last Saturday, elected delegates to the City Convention and nominated candidates for Councilmen as follows: First Ward—O. Dickinson and R. A. Gesner; Second Ward, Ed. Hirsch and C. N. Terry; Third Ward, J. H. Moores and F. K. Hardy; Fourth Ward, J. M. Gatch and W. O. Adams.

Our correspondent at Shedd, Linn county, says under date of November 23d: "A shock of earthquake was felt at this place last evening, lasting for several seconds. The motion appeared to be an oscillation between east and west. It was sufficiently violent to make timbers in the warehouse crack and frighten hands engaged in loading wheat so badly as to use a precipitated evacuation. Time, about 9:30 P. M."

We have received an account of a little transaction taking place near Oakland, by which a husband tried to manufacture testimony against his wife so as to procure a divorce from her, but the old lady didn't bite and the old man lost $50 by the arrangement. The woman is going for a divorce now and she ought to have it if our information is correct.

A letter from Canyon City, Grant county, dated the 18th inst., states that the Independent Order of Floodwoods propose giving a public ball on the evening of the 27th for the purpose of building a new school house. Also that there are several marriages talked of that are expected to come off soon. The weather has been fine. The contracts for hay and grain at Camp Harney are all filled.

The Grand Jury of Benton county found three bills in the following cases: The State of Oregon vs Philip Stanton, throwing down gate on roadway belonging to the Corvallis and Yaquina Bay Wagon Road Company; The State of Oregon vs W. H. Brown, by threats compelling another to do an act against his will; The State of Oregon vs Richard Bent, assault with a dangerous weapon.

An attempt was made to burglarize the store of Ferguson & Bird at Lafayette on Thursday night of last week. The brick wall was cut through on one side, but finding they could not get into the store that way, the burglars went on the other side and made a hole large enough to crawl through. They were probably disturbed very soon after they effected an entrance, as nothing was missed from the store, though some articles were scattered about the floor.

A requisition for arms was recently made by a militia company organized at Eugene, to which Gov. Grover replied as follows: "I regret extremely not being able at this time to fill your requisition. There are no arms at the seat of government, all having been distributed during the late Indian difficulties, to be placed in the hands of settlers at exposed points. From my information there is no better feeling upon our frontier at this time than there was a year ago. With my present view of the subject I would be doing a great injustice to the frontier settlers to withdraw these arms at this time."

A mineral spring near Yoncalla, Douglas county, is attracting considerable attention, as several persons have tried the effects of using the waters with marked favorable results on health. Its medical properties are unknown. The owner, Mr. Snowden, has made several efforts to have it subjected to a chemical analysis, but his agents, instead of returning him the results, have made him offers for his property. Mr. Leland, the temperance lecturer, says that the water tastes very similar to Saratoga water. Its situation is near the railroad, in quite a romantic place, and would be a delightful resort for invalids.

Messrs John Minto, Frank Cooper, and Henry States, have just returned from an expedition made in the interest and under the official authority of Marion county, to explore the route across the Cascade mountains on the north side of the main North Santiam, which heads south of Mt. Jefferson. They found and traversed the valley of that stream in the mountains for 74 miles, and reached the summit south of Mt. Jefferson, without finding any difficult mountain climbing, saw Black Mound in the Des Chutes valley, and saw the bunch grass land in the distance. Mr. Minto makes a careful estimate that 117 miles of road will reach from Salem to the Des Chutes valley, and promises to furnish next week full particulars of this very interesting and very important discovery.

The case of W. Bird vs The Dalles Military Road Co., is exciting some attention in Wasco county. The plaintiff seeks to recover damages for injuries received by the upsetting of a stage, caused by defendants' road being out of order as well as by negligence in its construction. Defendants claim that said road was properly constructed, and that they are not bound to keep it in repair, that since September, 1869, they have refused to demand and collect toll of passengers and travelers on said road for a distance of about two hundred miles southeast of the Dalles, that the place where plaintiff was injured was on that portion of the road that defendants had abandoned and thrown open to the public as a public road. On a demurrer to defendants' answer, Judge McArthur decided that defendants could not abandon the road and suffer it to become dangerous and impassable, that their obligation in this respect continues, that to allege they were not liable for damages for the reason they did not collect or receive toll of travelers or passengers or that they had turned the road over as a public highway, by abandonment in not collecting tolls, was no defense to plaintiff's cause of action. The Mountaineer says it is a question of some importance to the traveling public to know that the law makes it the duty of the Dalles Military Road Company to keep this road in repair.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The first cow has reached Skeena Forks from Fort St. James.

The steamer Otter, Capt. Lewis, arrived at Victoria from Skeena river on November 18th, bringing $40,000 in Omineca gold dust.

The Otter's arrival at New Westminster with a large number of Omineca miners gave the town a more than usually lively appearance.

Mr. Pearse has received the plans for the new Custom House to be erected at the foot of Broughton street in Victoria. The building will be 40 feet wide by 62 feet deep, three story and basement, with Mansard roof.

Times at Cariboo are reported flat. Lothair claim on Antler sold for $2,400. On Lightning, the Victoria and Vancouver were doing well, and the people on the creek generally are in good spirits, looking forward to a very prosperous season next year.

Lieut.-Col. Houghton, of Victoria, has received instructions to organize the militia of the Province at once. Five companies of riflemen will be raised as follows: At Victoria, two companies of 50 men each; at New Westminster, one company of 40 men; at Burrard Inlet, one company of 40 men; at Nanaimo, one company of 40 men. The uniforms, arms and accoutrements for the outfits are already in the Province.

In pursuance of instructions from Ottawa, Col. Houghton has placed himself in communication with the Provincial Government, with a view to obtaining a site for the necessary buildings, such as drill shed, armory, and magazine, &c., and he anticipates an immediate favorable issue. The site will in all probability be beyond James Bay, in the vicinity of the Government buildings, and when obtained the works will be gone on with at once.

Mr. J. C[illegible], of the Payne Company, left Germansen Creek on the 25th October. The weather was cold, freezing hard, but very little snow on the ground. The trail through [illegible] Pass was in good order. Between Tatlah and Omineca the lakes were frozen; in one the ice was strong enough to permit the party to cross. The party were nine days in making the trip from Germansen Creek to Skeena Forks and three days from the Forks to the mouth of Skeena river.

The new Province of Manitoba is filling up very fast. The Canadian population has more than doubled this year and the town of Winnipeg is over 3,000. The Russian Mennonites have taken up seven townships, and the Prussian Mennonites, it is expected, will take up as much. The Dominion surveys have progressed to within twenty miles of Fort Ellice, and disclose one third more timber than was expected, and a continuous line of rich loam soil west of Winnipeg for 260 miles.

MONDAY MORNING NOV 24 1873

[illegible] FOR THE STATES

In answer to a communication from a northern [illegible] of high standing and great influence Hon R M T Hunter wrote a letter to the Richmond Whig in which he explained his recent address before the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society at Winchester. In this speech Mr Hunter was understood as advocating the payment by the General Government of [illegible] to the former slaveholders of the South as compensation for human chattels taken from them by emancipation. He now writes to correct this impression, saying that he did not make any proposition to pay the sum for the loss of any slave or to compensate the owner for any such loss either in substance or form. He suggests rather that the United States deposit $400,000,000 with the former slaveholding States without interest to be loaned to the despoiled slaveholders in the same manner after the model and strictly upon the precedent of the act of June 23 1836 depositing the surplus revenue of the United States with the different States upon the terms and in the manner therein specified. He says that when the United States Government found that it had no authority to give the money to the States it evaded the constitutional objection by putting the transfer in the shape of a loan without interest, providing meanwhile for the return of the amount transferred in a certain prescribed mode. We notice that Mr Hunter admits at the close of his letter, that he opposed the act of 1836 because he was afraid of the precedent. But he argues, there is no danger from the establishment of this precedent since this case can have no parallel hereafter. This admission is enforced by the remark that "the union and fraternal action of the two races in the south have been delayed by the fear, real or affected on the part of the colored race that their former masters would seek to re-enslave them." Mr Hunter assures us that "this fear is so absurd that it is difficult to believe in its existence." The proposed measure would he thinks, bring about complete harmony between the races. "the negro would feel that the claim of his former master had been satisfied, if not paid or compounded by the money of the United States and we may add the "despoiled slaveholder" would take the same view. But Mr Hunter does not desire to have his proposed measure understood as a scheme for the reimbursement of the former slaveholder. But we defy any one to reconcile the honorable gentleman's arguments on any other hypothesis. For instance Mr Hunter says in the first part of his letter that this loan of $400,000,000 to the slaveholding States, for the easement and benefit of the despoiled slaveholder, would quicken the energies of the South promote commerce, advance industries of all kinds and greatly [illegible] those States in bearing their burdens of taxation. This, briefly, is the point of view from which the North is to look upon his proposition with favor. The Northern States are to regard the loan as an act of charity to which the South has no equitable right, but which they in their generosity confer as a benefaction. But how is the South to regard it?

Mr Hunter tells us that "when the private property in slaves was taken by the United States for public uses, a claim accrued to the individual owner for just compensation under the fifth article of the amendments to the constitution," and that the obligation could only be discharged by a "just compensation to the claimant. In other words the debt created under the fifth amendment, by emancipation, was not, nor could it legally be, extinguished by the adoption of the fourteenth amendment. It would have been better, perhaps had Mr Hunter omitted this portion of his argument but he does not stop here. He goes out of his way to point out a supposed dilemma in which the States assisted to place the General Government by ratifying the fourteenth amendment. We quote:

> If they (the United States) compensated the slaveholder whose property was taken for public uses they violated the fourteenth amendment to the constitution and if they failed to pay the claim, which accrued before the adoption of the fourteenth amendment they violated the fifth amendment, which declares that "private property should not be taken for public uses without just compensation. A dilemma produced by the fourteenth amendment so absurd that it is difficult to suppose that it was not suggested by passion on the one side and adopted under the influence of fear by the other.

The spirit of the quotation is unmistakable: the General Government owes a debt to the Southern States for slaves emancipated. If schemers of Mr Hunter's stripe were in power the General Government would speedily be released from this absurd dilemma by the rescinding of the fourteenth amendment and the payment of an enormous indemnity to the despoiled slaveholders.

Thus this distinguished Southern attempts the difficult feat of carrying water on both shoulders. The expectant slaveholder of the South is told that he has a just claim against the General Government which is to be liquidated [illegible] the conscientious scruples of the Northerner, who stands jealous guard over the liberties which cost millions of treasure and [illegible] of the nation's noblest blood are quieted by a deposit [illegible] good will and brotherly love, and the constitutional objections [illegible] by the plea that the $400,000,000 will be deposited with the slaveholding States [illegible] a loan. Mr Hunter might very properly have closed his letter with this transparent sophism with which he [illegible] his summary of the benefits [illegible] from such a loan.

It might thus perhaps [illegible] claimant under the fifth amendment [illegible] violating the fourteenth [illegible] be much prized by [illegible] tion of the Government [illegible] holding.

If Mr Hunter shall succeed in gaining the Senatorial succession to John F Lewis whose seat he covets he may have an opportunity of ascertaining that the men who freed the slaves are in no [illegible] willing to confess that the General Government owes the Southern States a single cent. We do not like to think of the results which might follow the rescinding of the constitutional amendments. It is not very likely to put $400,000,000 in the treasuries of Southern States. If the people of that section will make their Hunters hunt other fields commerce and industries will take a new start in that unhappy region.

THE DEATH OF CAPTAIN HALL

Immediately on the return to the United States of the survivors of the Polaris expedition and [illegible] the circumstances attending the death of Capt Hall was instituted by Secretary Robeson. After a long and careful examination it was announced to the country that the brave commander and [illegible] death—that the evidence furnished [illegible] proof of the truth of the suspicions. Dr Bessel the surgeon accompanying the expedition a German against whom the accusations of poisoning were first directed was subjected to a rigid examination by Surgeon General Bliss and other medical gentlemen. The examining board reported that from this and concurrent testimony it was quite apparent that Captain Hall's death resulted from apoplexy. The accusations implied a horrible guilt and the verdict of the Secretary of the Navy was a relief to the country. We cannot but wish that the subject had been dropped just here. But in the Washington Star, of the 11th inst we notice an editorial statement to the effect that the widow of Captain Hall fully believes that her husband was murdered. Her awful suspicions point to Captain Buddington sailing master of the Polaris. She has appealed to the Government to cause the body of the dead explorer to be brought home in order that the question of his death may be forever quieted. We say we are sorry to see this subject again revived because the bereaved lady who makes this strong appeal does not support her request by producing any new evidence. It is based solely on suspicion, in her own mind, which was not put at rest by the official inquiry. The facts in the case seem to be simply these. Capt Hall returned from a long and exhausting journey fatigued from over exertion went from the frigid Polar air into the over-heated cabin of the Polaris, ate and drank quite heartily and was shortly afterward stricken down by the disease which terminated in death. That that death resulted from natural causes is not only a reasonable hypothesis, but it is almost certainly true. So the Secretary of the Navy will report to Congress, and so the nation will prefer to believe until new and substantial evidence compels a contrary belief.

The Washington Chronicle of November 11th presents a detailed statement of the cost of the remarkable landscape gardening in which the Board of Public Works have been experimenting of late. The debt of the District on account of these improvements foots up according to the Chronicle, $14,000,000. The Controller of the city has printed in the Republican another statement in which he puts the debt at $3,902,251. Forney's Chronicle with correspondents of other Republican journals affirms that it approaches $20,000,000. The act of Congress under which this expensive ornamentation was begun expressly provided that the debt to be incurred should not in any event exceed $10,000,000. The Chronicle surveys the stupendous sewers with mingled pride and apprehension and asks: Is it right that the people of the District of Columbia should bear this heavy burden of taxation? In answer to which we seem to hear the voice of the great West thundering through the November elections: Let us have economy. There is an ancient adage which teaches the excellent moral that those who enjoy the luxury of dancing should meet the demands of the melodious fiddler.

At a meeting of the Associated Banks of New York city held on the 11th inst a report from the Committee of Nine upon Reforms in the Banking Business was received. Among other things the report recommends the adoption of the following rules:

1. No bank shall pay or procure to be paid interest upon deposits.
2. No check shall be certified until the full amount is first deposited.
3. Checks upon Associated Banks only received on deposit.
4. Checks upon places out of New York received at rates of discount fixed by Clearing house Committee.
5. Checks will be taken at depositors risk and collected through the Clearing house.
6. Checks not good will be returned to the depositor the day following.

The adoption of these rules would introduce new and startling changes into the present system of banking.

Secretary Richardson's Elliptical plan for a resumption of specie payments borders very closely on the ridiculous. Did we not know that he enters into it with marked sincerity it would be almost a laughing stock. He starts in to replace over $400,000,000 of paper currency by redeeming greenbacks in sums of not over $5. At the end of the first two weeks our honored Secretary announces to an anxious public that he has paid out $4,000 in quarters and halves. At [illegible] it would take [illegible] weeks [illegible] the [illegible] 000 [illegible] And yet some time [illegible] for [illegible] We [illegible] the $44 000,000 [illegible] We [illegible] Secretary will [illegible] result of his [illegible] experiment.

The [illegible] other of the [illegible] that have been [illegible] completing the [illegible] in which the [illegible] of the Old [illegible] as much as that the [illegible] will learn a lesson from [illegible] They [illegible] that their [illegible] [illegible] can [illegible] and [illegible] in which [illegible] at [illegible] It [illegible]

DIS[illegible] —For several weeks a number of [illegible] ranging in years from ten to seventeen [illegible] been in the habit of attending divine [illegible] Sabbath evenings at the Mission Chapel which is situated at the extreme southern end of the street railroad While there they have frequently conducted themselves [illegible] a most disgraceful manner greatly [illegible] disturbance of the pastor and congregation Their turbulence at length became such a source of annoyance that the pastor notified by letter Chief Lappeus Last evening an officer attended service at the chapel in plain clothes A number of these young hoodlums were present, but they smelled a good sized rodent and conducted themselves in an orderly way The complaint is that these boys sit near the door and keep up a continual noise—laughing, whispering and frequently applauding the pastor Such conduct is simply outrageous and ought to meet with the severest punishment Those boys are known Let them beware

IN DURANCE V[illegible] —Of late the complaint has frequently been made that certain young hoodlums about the city were in the habit of indulging in an innocent and profitable (?) species of diversion This sport consists in going about the streets late at night with a pocketful of stones and when unnoticed hurl these missiles through windows of Chinese wash houses In some instances these chaps have been guilty of pelting severely the courtezans who chanced to be sitting at the windows Depredations of this character were frequently complained of but the officers could not catch the culprits Last evening an officer captured three small boys who were engaged in this questionable sport, and promptly locked them in a dark cell For the well known respectable standing of the boys parents, we suppress names It is to be hoped that experience like the above will have a beneficial tendency and inspire them with a wholesome respect for the law

LEVI DECLARED —Last Saturday morning the case of the colored man, Thomas Green was compromised in the Police Court and the defendant liberated Green was accused of having assaulted his wife and also was charged with making the threat that he would kill her Notwithstanding the chastisement he had administered and the menace he had indulged in wifely devotion overcame these trivial obstructions and Mrs Green, after allowing her liege lord to remain in jail for four and twenty hours came to the rescue Being the complaining witness in the case she declined to prosecute The prosecution being withdrawn Green was discharged on payment of the costs and the couple left the court room leaning confidently on each other's arm Matrimonial concord was to all appearances restored and the twain, who but the day previous were engaged in a disgraceful domestic broil departed as lovingly as a newly married couple

IN THEIR NEW QUARTERS

What changes have taken place in our city within the past five years Look at the many beautiful buildings that have been erected The disastrous fire of December 1872 and that which occurred almost a year ago though resulting temporarily in checking the progress of improvements and the increase of business nerved those active energetic men who are awake to the necessities of the hour to fill the property made vacant by the great fire with edifices of a more substantial character To day we see a hundred or more new buildings in the south end a large proportion of which are brick Turning northward the change we find fully as great at that just mentioned One of the many elegant structures erected in that end of the city is Ankeny's new brick building on the corner of A and First streets We have deferred mention of the building until the present writing desiring to make the description as complete as possible The building was erected expressly for the use of the Western Union Telegraph Co and Wells Fargo & Co's offices About three weeks ago the office of the

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Was removed to the new quarters specially adapted to the use of the Company The business office is situated on the ground floor of the inside portion of the building The size of this room is 14x22 feet The front is separated by a counter on which is set a screen partition of grained glass Outside of the counter are light desks for the accommodation of those desiring to write dispatches The room though small affords those connected directly with it to attend to business with comfort. A large plate window throws an abundance of light into the room By a stairway from the office access to the rooms above is gained At the head of the stairs is the store-room for keeping acids, etc Adjoining this is the operators' room a large and excellently lighted apartment The tables are of the Boston pattern, and accommodations for eight instruments to be placed upon them are afforded A switch board is fixed in the wall by which the circuits can be changed in a moment A dumb waiter for the transmission of dispatches from the office below and a slide into which messages are dropped descending to a box at the end, are fixed between the floors They are found to be very convenient Next to this room on the south, is Superintendent Plummer's office Opposite the entrance to the operators' department is the battery room which is well arranged for the purpose and gives entire satisfaction This completes the description of the rooms occupied by this company Mr James H Guild continues as manager and is assisted by Louis Jacobi as receiver W J Leahy and G W Thurman operators, N S Snyder and Hiram Bennett messengers and A D Richmond batteryman and repairer In their new office the employes feel perfectly at home The office of

WELLS FARGO & CO

Was removed yesterday to the large and well lighted rooms on the A street side of the building Large doors facing on First and A streets afford entrance and exit A large plated glass window on First street, besides several on the north side, furnish the means of obtaining the light of day while a dozen burners supply the artificial A counter of elegant design and fine workmanship extends diagonally across the room forming something of the shape of an elongated S Desks with glass screens for the use of clerks, are placed at each end of this counter These desks are of beautiful design and add much to the appearance of the surroundings Beneath the counter are bins racks drawers etc for the reception of small parcels books papers and other articles, and just back are larger bins for packages The vault has been built in a most substantial manner, and is safe against the raids of burglars or the hottest fire An office is set apart for the use of the Agent, attached to which is a closet for keeping blanks etc The letter department is at the extreme end of the main office Closets are arranged under the stairway leading to the second story A large room in the rear of the office is set apart for the reception of large packages, and is well adapted to the purpose intended Three doors give ingress and egress The unloading is done principally at the extreme end of the building where sufficient room for the entrance of the Company's wagon has been made A stairway on A street leads to the second story where are several rooms for private use A suite the largest on the floor will be fitted up for the use of the agent of the Company All these rooms are furnished with plenty of light and ventilation and we may add the same is the case with all the rooms in the building Mr Dudley Evans is agent of the Company In the office he is assisted by Ralph Welch Forwarding Clerk and Chas C Mead, Clerk of the Letter Department Frank J Molthrop continues as city messenger G J Euler W H Anderson and Eugene Shelby are messengers on the O & C R R J C Mendenhall on the O C R R, Col W G West and Geo W [illegible] on the San Francisco steamer route All these gentlemen are obliging to the patrons of the Company and we hope to see them remain in their several positions for some time to come For any further particulars we refer our readers to the careful consideration of Mr Evans and assistants The main building extends from First street back about eighty feet The frontage on First street is about fifty feet The streets in this vicinity have been planked and everything wears a cheerful appearance

REPEATER RYAN RECAPTURED.

But few persons arrested in Portland for alleged violation of law have been the subject of so much newspaper comment as the man Ryan This man was arrested a few days after the [illegible] election charged with the crime of repeating, or as it is sometimes termed "voting early and often" Several other persons were placed in durance vile at the time charged with a similar offense Ryan for some cause appeared to be the first [illegible] [illegible] the unsullied reputation of certain parties in the city whose names were used in an invidious connection with alleged bribery It was thought that Ryan was in possession of information which if divulged or confessed during the trial might compromise the fair name of several well known gentlemen in this community In fact the partial disclosures of Ryan certain hints towards systematic corruptions in the bribery matter together with other things of a more or less suspicious character created a well defined impression in the public mind that his trial would implicate criminally more parties than one From motives of prudence and caution or from the dictates of common humanity two men were found who furnished the necessary funds On being called in Justice Court Ryan through his counsel waived an examination and was held to appear before the Grand Jury of the Circuit Court then in session His bonds were fixed at $100 For some reason kind but disinterested parties [illegible] tendered as sureties for his appearance and Ryan was set at liberty But he never appeared before the Grand Jury and when diligent suit was instituted no Ryan was forthcoming All the other repeaters and illegal voters however stood their trial resulting in two acquittals and two convictions As Ryan was supposed to have left for a less tropical latitude his track began to breathe freely again and the public soon forgot the circumstance Meantime the United States Grand Jury was summoned The facts as known in the Ryan case came before that body judicial cognizance was taken of the matter and he was indicted More than two weeks since the police force obtained from an authentic source the information that Ryan had not left the country, but was lurking in the vicinity of the city He was seen first at Oregon City then at Oswego next some distance out on the Canyon road and last along the macadamized road While engaged in quietly tracking up the affair the officers ascertained that Ryan in company with a pal had taken temporary refuge in a [illegible] in several miles southwest of the city in the dense timber Not being able to discover the precise locality of the cabin the officers were unable to arrest Ryan for some days At length they learned he was out along the macadamized road Procuring an express wagon officers Brannan and Collins proceeded late last Friday evening with all expedition after the wary bird Luckily the officers came on Ryan and before he could ejaculate Jack Robinson they had him He was brought here and lodged in the city jail United States District Attorney Gibbs learning of the arrest an order was issued for the prisoner to be turned over to the custody of the U S Marshal Acting on instructions from the Court Marshal Young took Ryan out of the city jail and placed him in the county jail His bail was raised by the Court to $1 000 and not finding any persons who were willing to sacrifice that sum the prisoner is now in custody Since his arrest Ryan is very reticent and will give but little satisfaction to questions Having been indicted the case will probably be called for trial in the U S District Court the present week The trial promises to be of considerable interest as some disclosures are anticipated

THE NEWSPAPER REPORTER

It is interesting to watch the struggles of the reportorial fraternity in their endeavors to furnish forth a sufficient quantity of their startling and sustaining items The vast material for wonder items and unlimited resources of the metropolitan are a constantly goading thorn in the side of the rural editor That daily harvest of horrors that is garnered from the purlieus the slums and byways of a great city, and that never failing source the police court, sometimes drives the country rival to desperation Cut off from these urban sources of supply in this department he is thrown back upon himself and is forced to rely upon the vividness of his imagination Once or twice a month according to the amount of strain his ganglionic functions will endure and the scarcity of items he retires big with some idea in the way of the wonderful into his inner consciousness and at length reappears weak and weary but flushed and triumphant bearing tenderly the fruits of his labors—one of those items about a sheeted ghost a three legged hen or a seven hundred pound pumpkin that are so cheering and comforting.

The last season in this particular has been an active and exhaustive one for the rural reporters especially Fresh material has been hard to procure Washington's nurses and body servants have become a drug in the market That Brazilian yarn about a man 224 years old knocked the stuffing out of all the old people stories Big turnips and beets three feet cucumbers fruit trees blossoming the fourth and fifth time and vegetable eccentricities generally have not seemed to take very well In spite of these drawbacks the necessities of the emergency have so stimulated the inventive faculties that the season has been a brilliant success

Let us look on the field a little Early in the season the Selma (Ala) Times started off lamely with a sweet potato six feet and two inches long The Murfreesboro, (Tenn) Monitor met this with an old man who ate chicken and ducks and bacon &c Then a Virginia City (Nev) editor of imagination all compact produced a domesticated woodchuck who got drunk and cheated at poker and the San Bernardino (Cal) Guardian went him two better with a two headed snake These successes excited a tremendous rivalry, and the scene now became exciting so much so as to carry away several city papers that joined in the fray The Evansville (Ind) Journal, the Bowling Green (Ky) Democrat the Troy (N Y) Times the Rutland (Vt) Herald the Philadelphia Telegraph and the St Paul (Minn) Press went back to first principles and engaged in a mad rivalry in the ghost line The Brooklyn Eagle worked up the very stale story of the girl who lived ten years without eating The Lexington (Mo) Ca[illegible] [illegible] struck in characteristically with a child born with a tail A Waverly (Tenn) paper sang of an "egg within an egg" but by an eccentric hen of that place The Fort Wayne Ind) Sentinel trotted out a boy who pulled an eighteen inch snake from his stomach The Weston (Mo) Democrat struck a new lead with a new born baby whose mother was [illegible] years old and whose father was 77 The Louisville Courier-Journal did not make a very great sensation with its story of a cat that gave birth to three squirrels This gave the Turf Field and Farm courage to tell about a colt which climbed to the ridge poles of barns and bumped pleasantly upon passers by and after that the [illegible] Ky St[illegible] felt equal to the task of telling about a girl baby born with a chignon Made desperate by this the Waverly Tenn man came back with six tape worms and one sheep and Fayetteville (Tenn) remonstrated with a Rooster with three opposite legs The Cleveland Plain dealer brought out its mouse which chewed up $200 in greenbacks and the Evansville Courier came up smiling with the boy who coughed up a gold dollar The Brattleboro Vt [illegible] exploded a trunk which injured a lady who was standing by upon her head and the Kansas City Times followed with a bustle bursting with direful results The Erie (Pa) Dispatch introduced to notice a streak of lightning which entered that [illegible] and knocked the devil down stairs and the Franklin (Ky) [illegible] recited a little story [illegible] Then the San Diego (Cal) [illegible] got Arabian Nights on the brain and told about a devil [illegible] porter bottle which on being taken out expanded to a foot or two in diameter [illegible] knocked out the head with a little prune [illegible] [illegible]

A METHODIST MIRACLE

[illegible] OF A NEW HAMPSHIRE [illegible] WOMAN [illegible] MIRACULOUS VISITATION [illegible] HEALTH

Great excitement has been created in New Hampshire by an account given by Mrs Ellen C Sherman wife of Rev Moses Sherman of Piermont of her having been rescued from the brink of the grave by divine interposition. Mrs Sherman is a woman of thirty five of fair education and strong religious convictions. Her reputation for [illegible] has always been unquestionable and her remarkable story has naturally given rise to animated discussion among those who were familiar with the facts in her case.

It [illegible] to be admitted on all sides that Mrs Sherman, just before the time of the alleged miracle, was in an extremely dangerous condition. She was scarcely able to lift her hand to her mouth, and this incapacity for action was accompanied with intense pain which at times was so severe as to render her delirious. Then came a sudden and remarkable change without apparent cause and a rapid progress toward complete restoration to health.

In the community where Mrs Sherman lives the opinions upon the nature of her sudden convalescence are various and evidently influenced by sectarian bias. It is said that the Methodists generally accept her account at satisfactory evidence of miraculous interposition while other sects are skeptical and attributing her convalescence to natural causes, ascribe her belief in a supernatural visitation to the disordered fancies of a brain excited to the highest degree of religious fervor and physical agony. Here is Mrs Sherman's story:

"I have been a great sufferer for fifteen years, my sufferings increasing with the years. For years I have been a confirmed invalid but not wholly though mostly confined to my bed for a great part of the time for several years, till Sept. 10, 1872. From that time up to Aug 28 187[illegible] I was wholly confined not able to stand on my feet or be raised to a standing position, or get on or off the bed alone, or help my self much in any way. I was growing more helpless, and was especially so for a few weeks previous to my great change. Much of the time it required two persons to move me. I had become discouraged about ever getting up again, and on that night, lying in unusual pain and suffering, the prospect looked dark and drear. I looked forward to years of suffering in a bed ridden state and I felt that I must have more help from God to enable me to bear this burden with perfect submission and patience. I therefore tried and was divinely helped, to anew and fully and forever surrender myself and all my being and interests into His hands to lie there in passive subjection to all God's will. When I felt that the consecration was complete is was easy to grasp Jesus as my Savior oh so easy. My faith reached out to take Him as my all and as I did so, I began to be conscious of a presence. His presence in my room and a voice whispered in my inner ear, 'I will come unto you and manifest myself unto you.' It seemed as if I [illegible] to get up, grasp Him with my [illegible] so manifest was His presence. I felt I knew Him as my Savior. He seemed to fill the room and my whole being with His loving smile. But I can never tell how much of bliss entered into that hour. I said to myself, 'Truly this is the gate of heaven.' But I was not satisfied. My heart (I did not move or speak with my lips. It was a spiritual manifestation but as real as though pertaining to the body) cried out 'Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.' Immediately that voice replied, so lovingly and sweetly 'I will be thou clean' and with the words came the cleansing power of Christ's most precious blood. I felt 'It cleanseth me! It cleanseth me.'

I was too happy and too full to speak or move. I was overpowered—struck dumb by such a [illegible]. I felt that I could not lose such a presence and be left alone. I remembered 'Ask what ye will' and I said 'Lord send me the comforter that he may abide with me forever.' I knew He could do it and it was instantly given, going through my whole frame like an electric shock. I felt it, and the words 'Refining fire go through my heart,' &c passed through my mind and were true in my experience. The voice of Jesus whispered 'And when He is come, He will take of the things of God and show them unto you' and for a few moments, truly, He did show me wonderful and marvelous things out of God's law. Promise after promise came before my spirit's eye as vividly as if written in letters of light and since then it has been constantly verified.

"I [illegible] overpowered by the presence of Jesus who still remained, though I saw not His form at all—only His presence and the baptism of the Holy Spirit. While lost in wonder love and praise, I said to myself 'This poor, sick, worn out body is a poor offering to give Him for His dwelling in return for such wonderful love.' The spirit whispered to me—the first intimation I had of the design of the Great Physician—He is able to restore, and fit up for his own temple. Instantly Jesus passed near my bed and spoke, Believest thou that I am able to do this?' and it was repeated many times while I moaned. He is the same yesterday to-day and forever. All power is given Him, &c. He did heal the sick, and my judgment was convinced. I knew He was willing. He had come because He was willing yes and anxious to do it. Power to yield and believe was given. I said my whole being it seems to me said—'Lord I believe, help thou mine unbelief.' He saw me and knew my whole heart believed. He came still nearer, and I heard the words. And He breathed on them and said 'Receive ye the Holy Ghost' and they were accompanied by a [illegible] and I felt it on my face. A warming, [illegible] influence was breathed upon me. It [illegible] my body, relieving my pain instantly, and all through my frame I felt [illegible] and life. It was as if a [illegible] battery was [illegible] [illegible] I was told to arise, then to turn in bed, I did so without effort. Before it had taken two persons and caused great suffering. Then 'Call your husband.' I waked him, and told him the Savior was present at work on me and while telling him there came the command 'That the people may know the Son of Man hath power on earth still to forgive sins arise and walk.' And as I finished telling what He wished me, I arose without help or without effort and walked across the room several times and gained strength while so doing.

In a week I went to the W[illegible] and [illegible] while there I have been to church half the day for three Sabbaths and yesterday to the prayer meeting besides. I am a new creature in all respects physically mentally and morally. I have awakened to newness of life. I am free from pain unless [illegible] and though still weak I am gaining rapidly. My diseases and they were many and pronounced incurable are gone. My heart is apparently well, and I have faith that the [illegible] are removed if I obey God in all His laws. I am trying to obey the slightest wishes of His Spirit, and I would rather die than doubt the work He has performed in me. I pronounced it a miraculous work to all believers and unbelievers. Jesus saved me and made me well. After I had walked about the room and gone back to rest, Jesus again stood and conversed with me. He said I would now have a chance to be called a fool for the sake of Christ. Would I confess it [illegible] be called a fool? I said 'Yes anything [illegible] am willing to do if need be for the Lord Jesus.' I feel that I [illegible] given [illegible] Christ and [illegible] to-day. He bade me tell the people how great things the Lord had done for me. I am trying to do so as far as I have opportunity.

That a nation in our present position should be in a state of commercial [illegible] cotton crop and an abundant crop of breadstuffs with a fair [illegible] that every week [illegible] in our favor [illegible] good and [illegible] facilities for getting the produce of our labor [illegible] our favor we should stand trembling and [illegible] flowing [illegible] what is to come next is really and truly wonderful. When merchants fail with three dollars of assets for every two of liabilities, when banks suspend with enough means on hand to pay all pressing demands [illegible] manufacturers stop their mills with plenty of orders on hand to warrant them to be kept going it is time to stop and inquire whether these men have lost their heads or what is in the atmosphere that affects every one so unfavorably. With our present advantages as a nation we ought to be on the high road to prosperity.

Commercial News.

[BY MAIL]

The increased movement in wheat both at New York and at the exporting ports of Europe has had much to do with the decline in prices. The crops are abundant and good and are now going forward freely to the seaboard. There is a steady reliable export demand based upon the real consumptive wants of Europe.

The grain trade appears to have effectually recovered from the depression which existed after the commencement of the financial panic. It was scarcely ever in a more healthy or solid condition than now. The prices are reduced something, below what they were the first week in September but this is not altogether due to the trouble in the money market.

Morton Rose & Co of London have been appointed financial agent of the Treasury and State Department, and Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co continue for the navy.

The wool industry of the United States is one of great importance. The outlook of the trade [illegible] ported to be quite encouraging. Recent [illegible] the general opinion that comparatively high rates will be the rule so soon as trade once more sets in the ordinary grooves.

Business affairs at Chicago, Cincinnati, St Louis and most of the other leading commercial centers in the West are beginning to recover from the recent financial shock, though there is still considerable complaint as to scarcity of money.

The returns of Customs for the quarter ending September 30 1873 show a decrease of $[illegible] in receipts. For the month of September of the present year they amounted to $[illegible] and for the same month last year $[illegible], a decline of nearly $[illegible]. The total receipts for the fiscal year 1872 were $[illegible], again [illegible] while the exports for 1873 were about [illegible] more than for 1872.

The closing up of the September quarter shows that the government by the failure of the New York and London houses of Clews is deficit the amount of $1,000,000 on the consular and diplomatic account.

It is estimated that by the arrival of sovereigns and the payment of the November interest some $30,000,000 of gold will be thrown on the New York market within the next few weeks.

The weight of the new fractional silver coin is metrical the weight of the half-dollars being just twelve and one-half grammes, the quarter dollar six and one quarter grammes. These will be the first issue of silver coins of the metric standard established by the last Congress. The value will be one half of 1 per cent in excess of the former standard.

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Skin Diseases of long standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street corner Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor [illegible] money in seeking out new remedies has increased with his increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons, male and female are there who are suffering a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system, and at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation the usual result is suffering until death closes the scene. Let parents guardians friends and all those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies know that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Apply immediately to DR GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted that those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors and all others publishing their skill [illegible] in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore cautious [illegible] make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz, low countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and sure method of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR GIBBON is responsible and will give to patients a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Post office or through Wells Fargo & Co a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths shoemakers newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, &c. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN jy6d4p
